

Senior Consultant

Location: Karlsruhe, Germany

conemis enables continuous modernization in enterprises with the automated transition to cutting-edge software applications. We therefore automate and manage the migration process with our software such that stakeholders are amazed by the reliability and efficiency of the transition.

If you are interested in one of the most dynamic areas in the ongoing shift to the cloud, we offer you an inspiring atmosphere that allows you to apply your individual skills to run transition projects. You advise and support our customers and partners in international projects during the whole transition process to enterprise cloud applications.

What we offer

- international projects with prestigious large customers with occasional business trips
- constructive, challenging, and creative work atmosphere within a team of highly motivated professionals
- room for your own development
- supportive colleagues and principals
- centrally located workplace

What we expect

- university degree in computer science, engineering or equivalent experience in IT
- at least five years of work experience in consulting services
- competent knowledge in project management
- excellent certified knowledge in enterprise applications in the area of CRM and/or ERP
- experience in data migration and integration
- good technical understanding of software, interfaces and data structures
- high degree of professional and social competence together with a sense of responsibility
- independent and structured way of working
- high level of service orientation and internationality
- competence in working with off-shore teams
- willingness to travel
- strong written and spoken communication skills in English and German

Your application

Become a part of our team and send your entire application documents (cover letter, curriculum vitae and references) to jobs@conemis.com.